Notes

Chips: 1/4" in size down to dust. Smaller than 5/8 Very good to pack. Used under basketball courts, underneath before paving etc.

Gravel: it's the size of the gravel right down to dust. This has fines in it- better for packing

Pure Stone/Clear Stone: it is strictly that size and no fines in it, used for drainage(septics, weeping tiles etc)

Gabion Stone: used mainly in ditches for drainage, gabion baskets for lake cribs

Backfill Sand: backfilling basements, drainage sand, some rocks in it (It comes right out of the bank at pit so its not screened etc)

Screen Sand: horse ring (has tiny rocks in it, used on highways for winter sand)

Mortar Sand: pool liners, horse ring, sand box, cement/mortar

Loam Sand: horse ring, good packing sand

5/8 M Gravel: used to make cement, driveways

3/4 Pure Stone or Pure Granite: is also referred to as Yard Surface Stone with Hydro One

Granite: packs better than regular gravel because of jagged edges, the fines are not sand, its all bedrock

Gran B Type 1: sand with a bit of stone in it

P Gravel: driveways

P Stone: driveways, weeping / septic tiles

Sand/Salt Mix: don't use on cement - it will eat it

Rip Rap: similar to Gabion - no fines, ditching, culverts, good drainage - round in shape

Type 2: 2" Minus

Quarried Material: Granite or Limestone
